

MONDAY EVENING, FAB. 12, 18 4.

FOR MANY years a detail of penitentiary convicts has been made to keep tile Capitol grounds at Richmond in good order. Such open air work is healthful; by doing it the convicts repay the amendment. State some of the expense it is put to for their arrest, trial and confinement, and they don't object to it. But because the sight of negroes in strip d clothing and wearing balls and chains vale, Fairfax county, R. H. Trammell, is supposed by some members of the vice D. L. Forden resigned. legislature to be objectionable to the sentimental eyes of northern tourists, they support a bill to break up the old custom referred to and remove the convicts from public sight. Such a bill comports well with that providing and Fridays, but he has not yet decided for women doctors at the insane asylums, and in the better days of the State, when her wisest men were sent to the legislature, both would have been scooted out of that body in short are very informal affairs and rarely

MR. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW now takes a hindsight view of the silver subject, which sort of view in his, as in all other cases, and on all other matters, is infinitely more reliable than a foresight view. He says the Sherman silver bill was not the cause of this country's pres- and as of the people of the country, are ent business depression, nor the repeal of that bill, the remedy for it. It strikes many in this section of the country that they read something to the same effect even before the special extra session of Congress was called to effect the repeal of the bill referred to. And the man who wrote it was one of their own people, and neither a statesman nor a distinguished orator; but he has common sense, and can look at things with a disinterested and unprejudiced eye.

IN THE large, rich and prosperous city of Wilmington, Delaware, over one thousand people on Saturday last witnessed with approval the flogging of seven negroes at the whipping post, for various sorts of misdemeanors. But in the small, poor and depressed city of Alexandria, Virginia, such offenders are confined in warm and comfortable quarters, and supplied with three good meals a day, at the expense of the well behaved people of the city. By all means the whipping post should be reestablished in Virginia. Such punishment is no horror to any man who r spects himself, or who has respect for any body else; but to others it is a mortal terror.

AT EVERY session of the legislature propositions are made, having for their object the restriction of the sale of liquor. They are all vain and, of necessity, must be so. The simplest, best, and most efficient way by which the sale of liquor can be restricted is to impose a high license tax. Comparatively tew would take out licenses, and they would see that nobody else sold liquor in their respective neighborhoods. Then, too, the revenue collected by such a tax would help mightily to improve all the streets of the cities and all the roads of the counties.

Accomping to the sworn reports of the officers of northern savings banks, the deposits now in such banks amount to over six hundred and seventeen miltion dollars. If the depositors in these banks be workingmen, as northern republican congressmen say they are, the reports referred to tend greatly to disprove the published statements of the alleged impoverished condition of such

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 12, 1894. The nomination of Mr. Peckham as Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court was discussed vigorously for some time in the judiciary committee of the Senate to-day, and an additional number of letters were read. The votes against Mr. Peckham were Messrs. Pugh, Hill, Teller, Coke and Wilson. Those for him were Messrg. Vilas, Lindsay, Mitchell, (Oregon) Platt, and George. Either side could have secured a postponement, but Mr. Hill was satisfied with the re-port without recommendation. Mr. Hoar, who was absent, it was positively stated by one of the committee, would have voted in the negative, so that the opponents of Mr. Peckham look upon the result as practically a rejection. Mr. Hill expresses himself as satisfied with the result, and believes the nomination will share the fate Mr. Hornblower. It is probable that an executive session to consider the case will be arranged for Thursday.

Mr. Palmer introduced a bill in the Senate to-day authorizing the President to commission as acting assistant surgeons such private physicians who were employed for three months as medical officers in the army.

In respect of the Manchester, Va... postoffice, it is said at the Postoffice Department that as Mr. Smith, the republican incumbent, was appointed in 1891, it is not probable a democratic successor to him will be appointed for some time, and that, too, though charges have been preferred against him, as all the time of the department is taken up with the appointment of successors to republicans whose terms

It is now conceded, even by those most in favor of removing all protection from Virginia coal and of imposing a heavy duty on the New England products made by the consumption of that coal, that the tariff bill as it came from the House with such provisions will be amended in the Senate, so as to provide for a revenue duty on coal, and that the House will concur in such an

The President to-day resumed the regular afternoon receptions to the public which he discontinued several months ago on account of the pressure of official business. Prior to their suswhether he will have sufficient time to give more than one day each week to them. It is probable that the regular order will be resumed and three receptions held as before. The reception last more than half an hour.

This was the day for the regular meeting of the civil service committee of the House, of which Mr. Meredith is a member, but as no quorum was present no meeting was held. It has been the same way often before. It is sup-posed that as the majority of the committee, as of the House, as of Congress, opposed to the whole civil service law and rules, the members of the com-mittee referred to deem their absence from its meetings as good a way as they can adopt to manifest their passive opposit on as the result of any active opposition, would certainly be vetoed the President.

Congressmen Wise, Meredith, Swanson, Edmunds and Epes of Virginia, being asked to-day if they knew of any case in their respective districts in which any legal voter had been denied the privilege of casting his vote or of having it counted fairly, at any election, responded all and singlely to the effect that they did not. that they did not.

Assistant Secretary Wike has refused to permit the free withdrawal of suppplies from a bonded warehouse for a Mexican war vessel at New Orleans. The reason assigned is that Mexico does not accord similar privileges to U S. war vessels in Mexican ports. Mexico is the only marine country that has not a reciprocity agreement with the United States permitting nited States war vessels to obtain supplies in er ports.

There was another legal step taken to-day that will prolong the fight between Governo Tillman of South Carolina, and the Commis sioner of Patents over the granting of a trade-mark for the Palmetto brand of whisky. The appeal from the commissioner's refusd to grant the trademark was taken to the Circuit Court on a petition for a writ of mandamu which was granted by that court. The com-m's ioner carried this decision to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, where it was reversed. To-day, J. Alpheus Johnson, attorney for Governor Tillman, entered an appeal against the decision of the Court of Appeals, and the case will now be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States.

AVENUE TO MOUNT VERNON .- A Washington paper says: "Some two years ago Congress, at a cost of $10,000, had a survey made of an avenue from Washington, through Alexandria county, by way of Alexandria city, to Mount Vernon, contemplating then to construct, at government expense, a road driveway from the National Cap ital to the burial place of George Wash ington. After having this survey made no further action was taken by Con gress; but the county of Alexandria will, at its own cost, take up the construction of this avenue for the distance of six miles, that being the portion within the borders of the county. Already about three miles have been built and macadamized from near Arlington estate, or Fort Myer, towards Alexandria city, and the board of county supervisors that will meet to-morrow will consider plans of extending the road to Alexandria city.

Mr. Frank Hume, chairman of the board, as well as Messrs Philips and Clark, the other members, are said to be strongly in favor of the project, and there seems to be no doubt that the matter will be accomplished The United States War Department will be asked to construct the avenue through the government reservation on the Arlington estate, from near the Aqueduct bridge, southward, to connect with the county's portion of the avenue next with the county's portion of the avenue near the new brick county schoolhouse (Hume school), and from thence the authorities of the county will con-tinue the avenue on to the corporation line of Alexa dris city. The City Coun-cil of Alexandris will be asked to continue the avenue through the city, passing near Christ Church, towards Mount Vernon to the Fairfax county line, from whence the Fairfax county authorities will be requested to concounty authorities will be requested to construct this avenue on to Mount Vernon. Of course this avenue, being constructed by local means, will not be on as grand a style as it would have been if constructed by the gov-ernment, but it will be a good macadam road especially through Alexandria county Such a drive by way of Arlington, and free from the danger of meeting the steam cars, it is thought would become one of the most popu-lar pleasure drives around Washington.

NAL LAW .- The deportation of the two negroes from Prince William county to Alexandeia, and their return to Prince William for their trial under military escort, suggests the inquiry, are not our laws in need of amen Iment in respect to such cases? Why should the negroes have been returned to Prince William for trial? If there was such great danger of their being lynched as soon as they returned there, it would seem obvious that Prince William was not the place for their trial to be held. Why were they not tried n Alexandria? The answer is that in the present state of our law the trial could not have taken place in Alexandria. The Prince William court was without authority to order it to take place there. The Court of Appeals decided in Joyce's case, 78 Va., R. 287, that there can be no change of venue until it is made certain that no jury to try the accused can be secured in the county where the crime is alleged to have occurred or in some other

The Senate passed Senate bill to legalize primary elections in Richmond and Winchester.

The conference committee on salary of the judge of Richmond's new court reached an agreement, fixing the salary at $2,000 with privilege on the part of Richmond city to increase the salary by an amount not exceeding $1,200. The Senate fixed Wednesday as the time for the consideration of the several bills to establish State hospitals in Virginia.

Among the bills introduced in the Senate was one by Mr. Fairfax to provide for the equalization and correction of errors and inequalities in the assessment for taxation of lands and personal property. The bill has for its object the creation of a State Board of Equalization, consisting of three members, who shall be elected by the legislature and whose duty it shall be to visit the counties and cities of the State, inquire into the assessment of property and make such corrections as may, in their judgment, be necessary to equalize asessments. The Senate passed Senate bills to amend the code relating to venire facias in cases of felony; to amend the code in relation to certificates upon which witnesses for the Commonwealth are paid; to amend the code in reference to duties of the reporter of the Court of Appeals; to amend the code in relation to appeals from justices, and House bill to amend the charter of the town of Manassas.

The president pro tem. of the Senate appointed Senators Berry and Watson as members of the joint committee to investigate the question of public roads. The committee on the public institutions of the State will leave on Thursday for a visit to Staunton and other points.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Bendheim, the vote was reconsidered that on Friday had defeated a bill to authorize William Green, a licensed distiller of ardent spirits in Lee county, to sell the productions of his still at any place on his own premises or rented premises in that county, subject to existing laws in the State, provided there be but one place of sale. Mr. Bendheim spoke in favor of his motion. He said the bill was one that would have no such far-reaching effect as some delegates had predicted. It simply allowed a wortby old gentleman to the production of his still at his residence, subject to all the existing liquor laws. Mr. Nicol opposed the motion to reconsider. He said the passage of this bill would be a dangerous precedent for the Legislature to estab ish. The bill did not prohibit the sale of the products of the still at a church or school house. Mr. Mason favored reconsideration and appealed to the House to allow this old gentleman and worthy democrat the privilege asked. The bill was laid aside as the hour for the reconsideration of a special order had arrived. Mr. Cardwell, from the special committee appointed to confer with a similar committee from the Maryland Legislature with regard to the boundary line between the two States, presented the report of the committee. The report says no further legislation is necessary in order to define the boundary line as this is a matter for the courts to dewas a bill to regulate the taking of oysters in the Potomac river and the Ches-

Mr. Fentress introduced a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Legislature that the flag of the United States should be raised over every public school house in Virginia, and urging the superintendent of public instruction and board of education to endeavor to secure the co-operation of the U. The House decided to vote on the Richmond and Dauville reorganization bill pending amendments on next Tuesday. It, also, limited debate. There is no doubt that the measure will pass, but important amendments may made. Among the amendments al-ready proposed are those having for their object the keeping of all the general offices in Virginia, placing a limit on the capital stock and requiring that the same be paid in money and not in property; to prohibit the acquisition of parallel lines of railway, and prohibiting discrimination against any city, town or county or section. Bills were introduced to amend the pharmacy laws, By Mr. Bendheimto require the Board of Supervisors of Alexandria county to tax the sale of ardent spirits and malt liquors in said county. To amend the code in relation in any county, it is deemed expedient to increase the school-tax they are authorized to call an election for the purpose of deciding the question. Bills to regulate the taking of oysters in the Potomac river and the Chesapeake bay, etc., and to amend the code in relation to the compensation of supervisors were placed on the calendar.

The House passed House bills authorizing boards of supervisors to contract loans for the erection of courthouses, clerk's offices and jails; to give justices of peace concurrent jurisdiction with the county and corpora tion courts; for the trial of offenders in certain cases; to amend the code in relation to the fees of officers and privates: how paid: to amend section of an act entitled "An act to amend the charter of the city of Alexandria."

A petition was presented from Hen-rietta A. Dangerfield, of Culpeper, and others, asking for female suffrage. Petitions against the passage of the Miller local-option bill were received from the Central Woman's Christian Temperance Union and a number of residents of Falls Church, Fairfax county.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

Mr. Cullom presented a large number of petitions against the placing of wool on the free list. He said that they were signed by thirty thousand woolgrowers owning 6,000,000 sheep, or one-seventh of all the sheep of the United States. Among the petitioners, he said, was the Navajo Indian tribe, owning 1,500,000 sheep, on which those Indians were substantially getting a living and becoming independent citizens. He expressed the hope that the finance committee would give the matter due attention

Petitions from West Virginia against putting coal and lumber on the free list, were presented by Mr. Faulkner.

Mr. Cockrell presented a memorial of the St. Louis merchants' exchange declaring that the present stagnation in business is due to the uncertainty of congressional action on the tariff bill and praying that the question may be settled as speedily as possible; and he expressed his satisfaction at finding that the exchange had recognized the egregious blunder which had been made in putting all of the distress last summer to the Sherman silver purchasing act, Mr. Gallinger introduced a substitute for the Wilson tariff bill and had it referred to the finance committee. The substitute is a slight variation of the resolution heretofore offered by him. It declares that, in view of the widespread industrial depression, it is the sense of the Senate that it is unwise to attempt any change in the tariff laws.

Mr. Pettigrew offered a resolution which was agreed to, calling upon the Secretary of Agriculture for information as to the wheat crop and supply in the United States.
